

CHRISTMAS TREE FESTIVAL 2022

NOV 2022 - JAN 2023 WELLINGTON AIRPORT

Make your business shine, and help improve the lives of Kiwis with cystic fibrosis by sponsoring a tree this year.

THE EVENT

Are you interested in promoting your brand and organisation, while also improving the lives of Kiwis with the incurable genetic condition, cystic fibrosis?

If so, get on board with the Cystic Fibrosis Christmas Tree Festival held at Wellington Airport.

From November – January you can light up a Christmas tree with your business-branded decorations and support children and adults living with cystic fibrosis. The possibilities are endless and are limited only by your imagination.

Showcasing your brand to up to 16,000 potential customers per day is super-easy. We provide the tree, all you need to do is sign-up as a sponsor, get your creativity flowing and spend a couple of hours decorating it with your team in November.

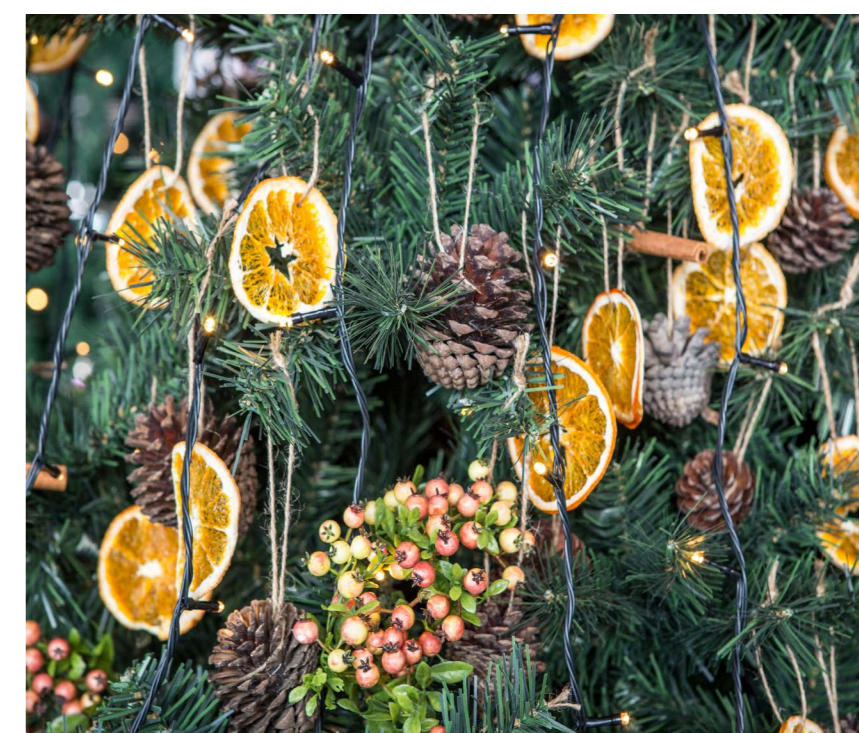

All sponsors are invited to the opening gala, which is a great opportunity to network with other businesses who, like you, are inspired to spread some Christmas cheer while supporting Kiwis with cystic fibrosis.

BRAND VISIBILITY

The festival provides a fantastic branding opportunity for any participating company. Trees are placed throughout the airport in high visibility spaces with all the associated daily foot traffic these areas receive.

On average over half a million people pass through Wellington Airport each and every month. In addition, pull up banners are placed within the airport promoting the Festival and including business logo's.

NETWORKING

All participating businesses are invited to the opening Gala at the airport. There's good food, wine, live music, guest speakers, and the great opportunity to meet with people from likeminded businesses.

The Best Christmas Tree is announced as judged by a local artist. Wellington Airport will once again provide a $10,000 advertising package for the first place tree for this years' festival.

PEOPLE'S CHOICE

We engage the public with the festival by inviting them to be judges in the People's Choice Award, and support their favourite tree by voting in the terminal, or online.

The People's Choice winning tree receives a $5,000 advertising package at Wellington Airport. There are prize opportunities for those who vote as well.

TREASURE HUNT

A fun way to get the public engaged in the festival and explore the trees is the Treasure Hunt. Once all the trees are up, we create a treasure hunt for the public to do while they are in the terminal. This gives you added exposure as the public hunt through the trees to complete the hunt and engage with your brand.

SPONSORSHIP

Clearly the festival is about fundraising. But it is also about building a community that know about our people, their needs and our goals.

Because we really want your tree and for as many businesses and community groups to be involved, we are asking for sponsors to sign-up and confirm what their contribution will be (these are based on bands).

Every dollar makes a difference, and we'd love for you to be involved. We have three tiered sponsorship levels starting at $500, so there's an option to fit every budget.

Your participation means that people with CF can continue to be supported, have access to information, know someone is advocating on their behalf, and that there are scientists pursuing every opportunity for a better future.

SECURITY

The festival is at an airport making security issues very important.

Although any decorations are fine, please be aware that airport security will inspect each tree after installation. In particular they will look for any decorations that could potentially be hiding something, for example boxes or parcels.

Once inspected they may be stickered to show they are safe.

Airport operations and security personnel will have the final say on tree placement and retain the right to move trees at their discretion.

Talk to the Festival Coordinator for guidance if you have any questions about your planned tree decorations.

ABOUT CF

Cystic fibrosis (CF) is a serious and ultimately terminal genetic condition affecting around 540 people in NZ.

CF causes the body to produce thick, sticky mucus which damages the lungs, digestive system, liver and other parts of the body.

People with CF endure a rigorous daily treatment regime, including chest physiotherapy, oral, nebulised and occasionally intravenous antibiotics, and taking enzyme tablets with food. Some people with CF will have a feeding tube overnight. This regime can take up to three hours each day, having a huge impact on quality of life.

Progressively, CF can cause diabetes, asthma, liver disease, and permanently reduced lung function which, in many cases, requires a transplant.

Life expectancy is in the 30s – less than half that of the average New Zealander.

Cystic Fibrosis NZ is the only charity dedicated to supporting and improving quality of life for people with CF and their families in New Zealand.

Funds raised through the Christmas Tree Festival provides personalised support, whether it is emotional guidance, practical advice, or financial assistance, to individuals and their families throughout their journey.

It also provides medical equipment, vouchers during hospitalisations, and advocacy services to secure cutting-edge medicines such as Trikafta.
